Snapshots of the Class of 2015
Department of Kinesiology

Students are provided hands-on experiences in our state-of-the-art exercise science laboratory that contains equipment for assessing anaerobic power, cardiorespiratory endurance, strength, body composition and bone health.

Gretchen Kaufman is the Community Ambassador and Varsity Volleyball Coach at King’s Ridge Christian School.

Mitch Miegel is a graduate assistant for the Sports Communications department at East Tennessee State. He is pursuing a Master’s Degree in Sports Management and employed by SB Nation as a staff writer.

Chanlir Segarra was chosen as the 2015 Female Student-Athlete of the Year. Named to the CoSIDA National All-Academic Second Team, the CoSIDA District All-Academic Team, and the D3hoops.com South Region Third Team. She is attending Florida State University College of Medicine.

2015 Exercise Science graduates were accepted into graduate programs such as physical therapy (The University of North Georgia), athletic training (Texas A&M, University of Oklahoma, University of Nebraska), and medical doctor training (Florida State University)

Melissa Worley is pursuing her Master’s Degree in Health, Physical Activity & Chronic Disease at the University of Pittsburgh

2015 Exercise Science students gained first hand experience through research and internship opportunities:

- Students participated in human and animal research projects and presented their results at the Student Scholarship Symposium.
- 11,542 internship hours were completed by 57 students at various sites within the United States and abroad.