Credit system (e.g. ECTS) & US equivalent: credits are converted to US system by CC-CS (10 Spanish = 1 US credit); classes take place at the Centro Superior de Idiomas at the University of Alicante

Academic advising (how do students register for classes): Pre-registration approved by Academic Director CC-CS and on-site with Resident Director Pepa Vives

Programs are integrated, semi-integrated and Spanish studies

Course articulation: See attached pages with suggested equivalencies between the classes taught at the Universidad de Alicante and those at Berry College. They mostly concern the Spanish major. Some similar courses taught in Sevilla (also a CCCS program) have been accepted for credit by other departments. Should the situation arise, the student should confirm with the department in question whether or not a given course would be accepted from Alicante, as well. This would also apply to the Integrated Courses, where students would be taking courses in disciplines other than Spanish at the Universidad de Alicante in conjunction with Spanish students.

Students may take music lessons (as part of their load; but if this puts them over the maximum the cost is €30), sing in the choir, join groups such as flamenco or writing, get involved in university sports and become certified in scuba.

Are there any courses/departments study abroad students are excluded from? No

Do any classes require additional fees? Yes, some Living the Culture courses have additional fees.

Average course load (# of courses & credits): 12-18 credits

Internship opportunities: Yes

Form of course assessment: Both AD and RD advise students during the application process.

Support ("learning center," etc.): Daily office hours with UA professors, RD continuous assistance, private tutoring if necessary.

Resources (library, IT): UA Libraries: Science, Law, Economic, Education, Philosophy and Letters, Geography, Technical and Nursing. Public hours: from 8:30 am to 9 pm. Upon arrival, CC-CS students get a student card that makes them full right users of every UA facility including the library. This card allows them to use any library service: reading rooms, work rooms, microform reader/printer and computing for public use, CD Rom databases, electronic journals. Home loans of books, DVD's, music...

Should student bring a computer? Not necessary. If they don't bring their computers, the UA has many internet labs to use freely only with CC-CS UA student card. They are open from 8:00 am to 9:00pm. If they bring their computers they will be able to use it all over the campus because it is provided with wireless system.

Major differences in educational system: It depends on the program the student chooses.

Intermediate and Advanced Spanish Studies: No major differences. This program has been designed according to the U.S. educational system: small class size (6-15), personalized attention throughout the program; continuous evaluation of student's academic performance; and strong encouragement to participate in class. Differences: these classes are attended by international students. This means that CC-CS students interact with students from France, Germany, China, Japan, Russia, etc. This varied cultural component gives a different atmosphere to classes. Spanish is the only language used for instruction and communication.

Integrated Spanish Studies Program with local students may have many differences in relation to their host university's system. Main differences: average size of classes: from 10-60 students. Students are supposed to be more autonomous. After the Bologna Plan, the educational system in Europe is being modeled according to the American educational system, meaning that classes should be less lecture-oriented and have more participation, mandatory assistance, partial exams with less material covered, practical seminars... RD works very close with students to choose those courses that fulfill their expectations and requirements.

Average size of classes: 10-15 students (Intermediate and Advanced Spanish Studies). 10-60 (Semi-Integrated and Integrated Spanish Studies)

Students are placed together according to their language levels, studies, hobbies, etc. The Speaking Partner Program begins with a Welcome Session where American and Spanish students are introduced in a very informal atmosphere. They are expected to meet once a week and share their time in both languages. They may meet on campus or in the city. They may have coffee, go to a museum, go to the movies, or go shopping. Spanish students are invited to CC-CS cultural activities. The program is followed up with a document that both parties have to sign every time they meet. A mid-term activity (excursion, "merienda"...) is offered to get everyone together as well as a farewell activity.

Health/counseling facilities: CC-CS students have private insurance that covers every need related to health.
