Language pre-requisites: UL language center—EFL to students, summer to Teachers (send number of hours required for EDU 222)

Academic advising (how do students register for classes): students should select ten modules before arriving to UL (top 5 and 5 additional); they then have two weeks to visit classes and finalize schedule of usually five modules with the international office

Course articulation (relationship to Berry curriculum: gen ed fulfillments, major courses; classes especially for international students):

For pre-approved classes, see

http://www.berry.edu/uploadedFiles/Website/Academics/Majors_and_Minors/International_Programs/_Assets/Documents/Ireland,%20Univ%20of%20Limerick\(1\).pdf.pdf)

General Education classes in literature, arts (music). Science classes at the gen ed level might be difficult to find, but upper level classes can be a good fit. Psychology, Kinesiology, Animal Science, Business, Government, among others. Some humanities are not offered.

In summer, modules available in Irish Studies, Architecture and Engineering.

Are there any courses/departments study abroad students are excluded from? 4th year modules and some Equine Science modules are limited. Students must be ANS majors to take Equine Science modules.

May students take half of a year-long course?

Do any classes require additional fees? Not at this time

Is a certain number of students required for a class to “make?” N/A

Average courseload (# of courses & credits): The normal semester course-load is 5 modules (classes/courses), with a minimum of 6 ECTS credits awarded for each module and 30 credits for a semester of study.

Instruction (lecture, seminar, tutoring, online): Most are lecture with discussion session (tutorial) component

Internship opportunities: Research-based internships would be available to spring semester students in certain fields who would stay on and complete the internship in early summer. Additional costs will be incurred by the student.

Form of student assessment: Modules are mostly assessed by means of a 100% end-of-semester formal written examination. In some cases assessment will be done through a mixture of continuous assessment and a written exam. This is a major difference in the Irish and US academic systems and students should be prepared to keep up with studies throughout the semester.

Support (“learning center,” etc.): The Student Affairs Division offers various services to all UL students, including arts, chaplaincy/multi-faith services, childcare, counselling, disability support, financial aid, health services, services for LGBT students, student registration, records and graduation.

Resources (library, IT):

The University of Limerick’s magnificent library opened in 1998 with more than 140,000 books, 7,000 audiovisual items and subscriptions to 2,000 journals. The library uses online international databases and CD-ROMs. One of the databases, the European Documentation Center, holds almost all official publications of the European Union.

Major differences in educational system: Self-sufficient; expectation of work outside of class time is high

Average size of classes: 15

Transcript & grading system (explain US equivalents, avg. length of time between end of term and issuing of transcript): 4-point grading scale; transcripts are sent within a few weeks of the end of term

Student Support & Life

On-site orientation (length, items covered): The international office offers a specific Study Abroad Orientation during “Week Zero” of each semester. The programme begins with a brief overview and welcome dinner, and the rest of the week includes day-time and evening events such as a campus tour, city tour, film, icebreakers with local students, coffees and a bar-b-que

What challenges might US students encounter in this culture/educational system, etc.? Assessment is done largely with a single project/paper at the end of each module/class, so the grade depends solely on this assignment.

What is the English proficiency level of the resident director? Fluent

Does institution have crisis management plan? (attach)

Give an example of how a situation of misconduct was handled:

What is the level of interaction between students and host country nationals? Because many local students go home on the weekends, this usually takes place during classes. However, the Friday evening international parties have become very popular among local as well as international students.

Excursions/activities (indicate additional fees):

The International Office organises a number of off campus activities each semester. These include a special Thanksgiving dinner in the fall and organised trips to Dublin and West of Ireland tourist attractions. They also work with the International Society at UL to promote other trips and activities which are offered at discount prices to students. There is a book club, an “international power hour” radio program and an international “come dine with me” program. Cost for joining the International Society is €5.

The Irish World Academy of Music and Dance is an internationally acclaimed centre located at UL for innovation and research in music and dance performance and offers numerous programming. For more information on arts programming, see <http://www.ul.ie/ul-campus/music-arts-culture/>

Health/counseling facilities: An acute care advisory service is provided to all registered students, free of charge. This service includes a full time nursing service and daily attendance by doctors. The Student Health Centre is open Monday to Friday from 09h00 to 16h00 and can assist with ongoing monitoring.

The Counselling Service is a professional psychological service available to students to assist them on their progress through University life, with all of its incumbent stresses and strains. A consultant psychiatrist and chartered physiotherapist are available through internal referral.

Are these available in English? Yes

Accommodation for students with disabilities: The Disability Liaison Office welcomes students with disabilities. The Office provides support for students with learning, physical, sensory and other disabilities.
