

Gabrielle Ursula Falk M.S., D.V.M.

Education

Doctor of Veterinary Medicine, Texas A&M University. Magna Cum Laude 1997

Masters of Biology, University of Texas, Arlington. 1992 - Ethology, predator/prey interactions

Bachelors of Science, University Georgia. Summa Cum Laude 1990 - Zoology

Employment History

Fall 2017 - Present

Visiting Assistant Professor, Department of Biology, Berry College, Mt Berry, GA 30149

2017 - Spring Semester

Adjunct Lecturer, Department of Biology, Berry College, Mt. Berry, Ga. 30149 Taught Anatomy and Physiology lecture and lab courses:

2012-12/2016

Associate Veterinarian, Culbreth, Carr, Watson Animal Clinic, 1223 E. 2nd Ave, Rome, GA 30161. Small Animal Internal Medicine and Surgery,

2016 - 2017 Fall , Spring Semester

Part-time Faculty, Division of Natural Sciences, Georgia Highlands College, Rome Ga. Taught Zoology lecture course.

2012-2014

Adjunct Lecturer, Department of Biology, Berry College, Rome GA. Taught classroom and laboratory courses in General Biology, Anatomy and Physiology, and Zoology.

2004-2012

Associate Veterinarian, Animal Medical Hospital, 2540 30th Ave. N. Saint Petersburg, FL
Internal medicine and general surgery of small and exotic animals, emergency care, and wildlife rehabilitation.

2001-2004

Staff Veterinarian, Ellen Trout Zoo, 402 Zoo Circle Lufkin TX 75904

Established and operated the zoo's first full time on site veterinary hospital. Responsible for preventative care, disease control, species preservation and general zoo animal internal medicine and surgery. This position also included veterinary duties for the local animal control facilities.

2000-2001

Associate Veterinarian, Critter Fixer Pet Hospital, 5703 Louetta Rd., Spring TX 77379.

Small Animal internal medicine and surgery.

1997-2000

Associate Veterinarian, East Texas Veterinary Clinic, P.O. Box 428, Lufkin, TX 75901

Mixed Animal internal medicine and surgery and consulting duties at a local zoological institute. Sup