

North Indian Classical Music Concert

With
Bansuri Maestro Steve Gorn
Accompanied by Jeffrey Lidke on Tabla

Berry College Chapel
Tuesday, September 12, 7 p.m.

Steve Gorn has performed Indian classical music and new American music on the bansuri bamboo flute and soprano saxophone in concerts and festivals throughout the world. A disciple of the late bansuri master, Sri Gour Goswami of Calcutta, and currently a student of Pandit Raghunath Seth of Mumbai, he has been praised by critics and leading Indian musicians as one of the few westerners recognized to have captured the subtlety and beauty of Indian music.

Jeffrey Lidke is a senior disciple of Homnath Upadhyaya in the Kathmandu tradition of Tabla. He began his studies in 1989 and has been performing and teaching since 1996. Dr. Lidke is also assistant professor of World Religions at Berry College.

Cultural Events Credit

Carrie N. Baker
Assistant Professor and Chair
Department of Sociology and Anthropology
Director of Women's Studies
Berry College, Campus Box 5010
Mount Berry, Georgia 30149
706-290-2169